

CONTENTS

	page
Editor's Preface . . . . .	VII—XII
Extract from the Author's preface (1891) . . . . .	1
Extract from the Preface to the last edition . . . . .	5
 Chapter I. — General review of orchestral groups
A. Stringed instruments . . . . .	6
B. Wind instruments:
Wood-wind . . . . .	12
Brass . . . . .	21
C. Instruments of little sustaining power:
Plucked strings . . . . .	26
Pizzicato . . . . .	27
Harp . . . . .	27
Percussion instruments producing determinate sounds, keyed instruments
Kettle-drums . . . . .	29
Piano and Celesta . . . . .	30
Glockenspiel , Bells, Xylophone . . . . .	32
Percussion instruments producing indefinite sounds . . . . .	32
Comparison of resonance in orchestral groups, and combination of different tone qualities . . . . .	33
 Chapter II. — Melody
Melody in stringed instruments . . . . .	36
Grouping in unison . . . . .	39
Stringed instruments doubling in octaves . . . . .	40
Melody in double octaves . . . . .	44
Doubling in three and four octaves . . . . .	45
Melody in thirds and sixths . . . . .	45
Melody in the wood-wind . . . . .	46
Combination in unison . . . . .	47
Combination in octaves . . . . .	49
Doubling in two, three and four octaves . . . . .	51
Melody in thirds and sixths . . . . .	52
Thirds and sixths together . . . . .	53
Melody in the brass . . . . .	53
Brass in unison, in octaves, thirds and sixths . . . . .	55

	page
Melody in different groups of instruments combined together . . . . .	56
A. Combination of wind and brass in unison . . . . .	56
B. Combination of wind and brass in octaves . . . . .	57
C. Combination of strings and wind . . . . .	58
D. Combination of strings and brass . . . . .	61
E. Combination of the three groups . . . . .	61
 Chapter III. — Harmony
General observations . . . . .	63
Number of harmonic parts — Duplication . . . . .	64
Distribution of notes in chords . . . . .	67
String harmony . . . . .	69
Wood-wind harmony . . . . .	71
Four-part and three-part harmony . . . . .	72
Harmony in several parts . . . . .	76
Duplication of timbres . . . . .	77
Remarks . . . . .	78
Harmony in the brass . . . . .	82
Four-part writing . . . . .	82
Three-part writing . . . . .	84
Writing in several parts . . . . .	84
Duplication in the brass . . . . .	85
Harmony in combined groups . . . . .	88
A. Combination of wind and brass . . . . .	88
1. In unison . . . . .	88
2. Overlaying, crossing, enclosure of parts . . . . .	90
B. Combination of strings and wind . . . . .	94
C. Combination of the three groups . . . . .	95
 Chapter IV. — Composition of the orchestra
Different ways of orchestrating the same music . . . . .	97
Full Tutti . . . . .	101
Tutti in the wind . . . . .	103
Tutti pizzicato . . . . .	103
Tutti in one, two and three parts . . . . .	104
Soli in the strings . . . . .	104
Limits of orchestral range . . . . .	106
Transference of passages and phrases . . . . .	107
Chords of different tone quality used alternately . . . . .	108
Amplification and elimination of tone qualities . . . . .	109
Repetition of phrases, imitation, echo . . . . .	110
Sforzando-piano and piano-sforzando chords . . . . .	111
Method of emphasising certain notes and chords . . . . .	111
Crescendo and diminuendo . . . . .	112
Diverging and converging progressions . . . . .	113
Tone quality as a harmonic force. Harmonic basis . . . . .	114
Artificial effects . . . . .	116
Use of percussion instruments for rhythm and colour . . . . .	117
Economy in orchestral colour . . . . .	118

Chapter V. — Combination of the human voice with orchestra.*The Stage band

Orchestral accompaniment of solo voices . . . . .	119
General remarks . . . . .	119
Transparence of accompaniment. Harmony . . . . .	120
Doubling voices in the orchestra . . . . .	122
Recitative and declamation . . . . .	125
Orchestral accompaniment of the chorus . . . . .	126
Solo voice with chorus . . . . .	128
Instruments on the stage and in the wings . . . . .	129

Chapter VI (Supplementary) — Voices

Technical terms . . . . .	132
Soloists . . . . .	133
Range and register . . . . .	133
Vocalisation . . . . .	134
Vowels . . . . .	136
Flexibility . . . . .	137
Colour and character of voices . . . . .	137
Voices in combination . . . . .	139
Duet . . . . .	139
Trios, quartets etc . . . . .	141
Chorus . . . . .	142
Range and register . . . . .	142
Melody . . . . .	144
A. Mixed chorus . . . . .	145
Chorus in unison . . . . .	145
Progression in octaves . . . . .	145
Voices divisi ; harmonic use of the mixed chorus . . . . .	146
B. Men's chorus and Women's chorus . . . . .	148