MAID OF HEATHERBLOOM.

By FRED. J. HAMILL & PERCY WENRICH.

Moderate.

The piano introduction consists of four measures. The right hand features a melody with a triplet in the third measure and a fortissimo (ff) dynamic marking in the fourth. The left hand provides a steady accompaniment with chords and single notes.

It's just the same old sto - ry of a lad and las - sie fair,
A year has passed, the heath - er now is bloom - ing once a - gain.

The first system of the song features a vocal line in the treble clef and piano accompaniment in the grand staff. The lyrics are: "It's just the same old sto - ry of a lad and las - sie fair, A year has passed, the heath - er now is bloom - ing once a - gain."

It's just the same old part - ing of a young and lov - ing pair,.....
Las - sie a-waits her , lad - die, but the wait - ing's all in vain,.....

The second system of the song features a vocal line in the treble clef and piano accompaniment in the grand staff. The lyrics are: "It's just the same old part - ing of a young and lov - ing pair,..... Las - sie a-waits her , lad - die, but the wait - ing's all in vain,....."

Stands for complete Harmony in Color as well as Song.
The sight of a dainty Heatherbloom Maid—one of the tens of thousands who are wearing

HEATHERBLOOM PETTICOATS

in preference to silk—may well inspire the writer of songs, even as such a sight inspired the poet of old, who sang to a bride:

“Her feet beneath her petticoat
Like little mice stole in and out
As if they feared the light.”

HEATHERBLOOM PETTICOATS

do not fear the light—nor do their comely wearers fear that a peep of a flounce or embroidery will reveal less elegance than the finest silk. HEATHERBLOOM is

SILK'S FAIREST RIVAL

and fairly outrivals her in durability and the important matter of price—Heatherbloom petticoats that will wear three times as long as silk being shown in all the smart shops and department stores at less than half the cost of their silk counterparts. So the

you will find everywhere to embody that best of combinations—style and economy—

“She is pretty to walk with,
And witty to talk with,
And pleasant, too, to think on.”
